MOSINEE WINS ONE

The Mosinee baseball team was here on Sunday and played a game with the locals, but it was not good weather for Grand Rapids, and the visitors carried off the honors by a score of 5 to 1. Foster was put in the box for the locals but the visitors dropped out his curves with such vehemence and regularly that they had rolled up five runs in the first six innings. Plummer was then put in and he held the visitors where they were for the remainder of the game. However, as Grand Rapids could only get one run from the Mosinee boys, they stood no chance of winning.

INSPECTED OUR FACILITIES

H. G. Jordan and J. Wedell of Milwaukee spent several days in this city last week inspecting our fire apparatus and facilities for fighting fire. Mr. Jordan is chief engineer of the Wisconsin Inspection Bureau and came here upon the invitation of members of the Merchants and Manufacturers association for the purpose of discovering the condition of the city and its facilities for the purpose of making us a new insurance rating if possible.

It seems that Grand Rapids insurance men have been operating under a rating that is several years old, since the establishment of which several improvements have been made, and it was hoped that a new rating would be the result.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY TAKES PLACE JUNE 1

It is not often that a senior class play will answer to both the call of the class and the demands of the public. This year, however, the play chosen "The Man of the Hour" is one which will please any audience of the present time because of the exceedingly "modern" plot. At this time, when patriotism and love for one's country rules supreme in every heart, nothing could be more appropos than "The Man of the Hour" which has been selected for the play.

In this famous play Mr. Broadhurst has mixed love and politics in an absorbing manner. Taking the theme of political graft in municipal affairs, he has made the work timely and has shown the old conflict between love and duty under new and interesting conditions.

Alvin Bennett, who becomes "The Man of the Hour," is the son of a rich financier, deceased, and has a kind indulgent mother. He is an idler. He loves Dallas Wainwright, the niece of a wealthy and scheming man. Before Dallas will marry him, she urges him to do a man's work and cease to be a looker-on. So when the political ring, of which Horgan is boss, offers him the nomination for mayor, he accepts.

He is picked out as the man who will do the right thing, and who can be handled, instead of doing the "right thing" as interpreted by his grafting promoters, he is firm in his determination to do right. He follows undauntedly the course of duty and honor, even though it seems to mean at the time the sacrifice of all that is dearest to him. Matters finally right themselves, and the end is one that every play-goer likes to see.

This is one of the strongest and most pleasing of recent plays of love, ambition, honor and politics and is full of natural humor that overcomes from situations highly charged with laugh producing possibilities.

The cast has been working with Miss Klotz for eight weeks and much excellent work has been done. Each and every character fits exactly into the part assigned and the interest and enthusiasm displayed in rehearsal is remarkable.

If such conditions continue, and we know they will, the class of '17 will have due reason to be proud of their class play.

The cast of characters is as follows: Alvin Bennett.....Howard Lyons, Charles Wainwright.....Leon Ritter, Henry Thompson.....Hubert Stark, Perry Carter Wainwright.....Delbert Fowler, Jerry Newman.....Valentine, Henry Newman.....Donald Day, Richard Roberts.....Avery Denton, Mrs. Wainwright.....Harlowe Morfill, Mrs. Bennett.....George Hollister, Mrs. Lyons.....John Decker, Mrs. Wainwright.....Marjorie Dwyer, Mrs. Carter.....John Decker, Mrs. Bennett.....Marie Rein.

The date of the play is Friday, June 1st, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Corribeau and George Nash are acting as business and advertising managers respectively.

DEATH OF ANDREW LUTZ

Andrew Lutz, an old and respected resident of Mehan, died Sunday morning, May 20, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lester Barden. Mr. Lutz was 73 years of age and had been in declining health for the past few years, but had been up and around until a short time before his death which was caused by a general breaking down and dropsy. The funeral was held at the home of his daughter, Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Freytag of Stevens Point officiating.

He was laid to rest in the Mehan cemetery by the side of his wife who passed away a few years ago.

The following acted in the capacity of pall-bearers: Chas. and Peter Benson, Frank Winkler, William Clusmann, Matt Hemmis and John Walter.

He was an old-time resident of Portage county, having lived in Almond and Stevens Point, and will be remembered by many outside of this vicinity. He moved here with his family about 20 years ago, and has resided here ever since. He was a good neighbor, always ready to help those in need, and took an active interest in the welfare of the community in which he lived. He will certainly be missed in our neighborhood.

Those of his family who are left are three sons and one daughter, Charles and Frank of Stevens Point, and Henry and Mrs. L. Barden of this place.

Arrangements have been made for a big Rally and Patriotic meeting on Friday evening, May 25th, at the Amusement hall.

Col. Jerome A. Watrous of Milwaukee will be the leading speaker and his address will portray the more intimate phases of army life which have not yet been spoken of here.

Col. Watrous is well qualified by experience and ability to make the greatest speech of the kind ever heard in this section. He passed thru the Civil War and was promoted from private to captain. Later in the regular army he was promoted from major to lieutenant-colonel. He saw service in the Spanish-American War and in the Philippine insurrection.

SCHREIBER-BANDELIN

People who passed the entrance to the Bandelin & Hausman deal near Tuesday morning were considerably surprised to see a box of cigars sitting on a barrel at the foot of the stairs with a card standing near with an invitation to "take one of the cigars, please." The box was signed the name of Carl Bandelin. Some were inclined to think it was a hoax, as Carl had side-stepped the wife of the fair sex for so long that he was supposed to be proof against the attacks of Cupid. However, investigation proved everything to be on the square and developed the fact that the evening before Mr. Bandelin and Mrs. Olga Schreiber had been quietly married at the Congregational parsonage, Rev. R. J. Locke tying the knot that bound them together for better or worse. The witnesses were Dr. George Houston and G. D. Fritz.

Both the contracting parties are well and favorably known in this city, the bride having made her home here for a number of years past. The groom is a well known lady, while the groom has engaged in the practice of dentistry for several years past in this city and is now a member of the firm of Bandelin & Hausman. Both of them have many friends here who will unite with the Tribune in extending the heartiest congratulations and wishing them a long life of happiness.

YOUNG KENTUCKIAN LANDS IN JAIL HERE

A young fellow who gave his name as Rufus Hill, and claimed to have come from Middleborough, Kentucky, arrived in the city via the blind baggage on Thursday and that evening was picked up by the police and confined in the west side lockup. Later his plight was discovered by Prof. M. L. Jackson, who got the boy released, saw that he was given a bath and properly dressed, and the little fellow has since been taken care of by Rev. Hanson of the Baptist church.

The story told by the youthful traveler is to the effect that both his parents are dead and that he lived with an uncle in Kentucky. He was fourteen years old and he found his life so hard down in that country that he decided to run away. He beat his way as far as Chicago on freight trains, but the size of the big city was too much for him and he made his way back to his home in Kentucky. He got onto a freight train and got out of Chicago all right, but discovered that he had lost his bearings and was on his way north instead of going toward home as he supposed. When he arrived here he was picked up by the police and placed in the calaboose, it being supposed that he had escaped from some institution and was lying to throw the police off his trail.

The police have been censured quite severely for putting the boy in jail, or at least for keeping him in the west side lockup, but the police do not build the jail as the best place that is supplied by the city for this purpose. However, the young fellow is now in good hands and has every chance in the world to make good.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jule Matthews, a respected family of this city. Mr. Luedtke was born and grew to manhood in Milwaukee. At present he is employed as shipper in the Northwestern R. R. Co., and is a young man that is making good in the business world.

REGISTRATION DAY

SET FOR JUNE 5th

All the county clerks of the state have been notified that the day for registration has been definitely set for the 5th of June. The county clerks have been supplied with blanks heretofore, and when the day comes, everything will be in readiness for the work.

The polls will be open at 7 o'clock in the morning and every man in the community between the ages of 21 and 30 who is entitled to vote is required to go to the polls and register on that day. The polls will remain open until 9 o'clock in the evening. Failure to register will be punishable by imprisonment for one year in the penitentiary. The election officers are also compelled to see that registrations are made and may collect for their services, but are asked to donate same.

Those who are away from home or are sick on registration day may register by mail, but they are all compelled to register. The draft will be made the same as in drawing a jury. It is expected that the registration will be placed in a box and drawn therefrom. Those who are ineligible thru physical disability or from having dependants on them will be rejected and others drawn in their place.

It is expected that there will be about 150 drawn from Wood county, as the number registered will be about 3,000. The usual polling places in the various wards of the city will be used for registration places.

LABOR BUREAU

"More food this year is Patriotism." This is the watch-word of the hour. One of the big propositions is to get the necessary labor. H. C. Taylor, state farm labor agent for the State Council of Defense is organizing local labor agencies thruout the state.

Arrangements have been made for five of them in Wood county. Fred Ellsworth, Vesper, A. F. Nelson, Grand Rapids, and J. F. Marshall, Sektzorn, Arpin, will act in this capacity.

If you are in want of help, get in touch with these men. They will be in touch with the state and county agencies, and perhaps can do something for you.

While this food production is strong in your mind, do not forget to plan the raising of all possible crops for your stock this coming winter.

I have talked to some farmers and they do not like the high price of feed. I don't myself. But I do like the high price of butter and cheese that is, from the farmer's standpoint. If you can raise most of what your stock eat and still get the high prices of the products that you sell, you are on the way to making some money.

Now is the time to think about this and not next February or March, when your hay and silage is about gone.

Are you doing your best along this line?

W. W. CLARK,
County Agricultural School.

LICENSES MUST BE POSTED

Hereafter the names of those who take out licenses must be posted in a conspicuous place by the county clerk so that they can be seen by any person visiting the court house. This is in accordance with a new law recently passed and will go into effect the first of next year.

The idea in having those who intend to get married take out a license was partly for the purpose of giving notice to the public and partly for the purpose of preventing hasty marriages. However, the first part of the law was often defeated by the contracting parties asking the county clerk to keep the matter quiet. The records were always open to examination, but it was an easy matter for the clerk or one of his assistants to slip the license down among the old ones that had been issued for some time, and the result was that anybody looking over the records would be very apt to miss the license altogether, and the result would be that the parties would be married before the general public heard anything about the matter. It is probable that, in most cases, no great harm was done by the deception, although it was not the intent of the law that things should be handled in this manner.

BREEDERS' MEETING

At Marshfield, Wisconsin, June 14 at picnic grounds, one mile from town. This is a meeting of the Central Wisconsin Live Stock Breeders' Association, and we expect to make it a good one.

We expect to have with us Mr. Cummings of Eau Claire, Mr. Hummel of Madison, and Mr. Griswold of West Salem. You all know what these men are and what they can do in the line of a talk on the dairy subjects.

There will be a program of games for the younger people. Refreshments of some sort will be served. More about this later.

The following committees have been appointed: J. C. Kieffer, P. L. Musbach, W. W. Clark, Games, P. L. Musbach, A. P. Bean, Bert Gates.

Refreshments, Wm. Burhopp, Mr. Graham, Rev. Peckham.

SEWER CONNECTIONS IN

WILL GO TO CAMP DOUGLAS

The Wisconsin National Guard has been ordered to mobilize at Camp Douglas on the 15th of July, and will include the local cavalry troop. When the boys go to camp they will receive some real drilling, and will also be instructed in the use of arms and be in readiness in case there is a call for them later on.

NEW BUILDING FOR THE TELEPHONE CO.

At the meeting of stockholders of the Wood County Telephone company held at the Elk Club Monday evening it was decided unanimously by those present that the proper thing to do during the present year was to put up a building for the use of the company. There were about fifty present at the meeting, and considerable talk was indulged in, so that the matter was pretty thoroughly threshed out before it was dropped.

The location that has been settled on by the directors of the company lies between the Elk Club and the Wood block, and is so located that when the new building is completed there will be a space all around it and light on all four sides. The new building as shown in the plans submitted will be 30x70 feet, with one story and a basement. It will be the idea to use the first floor for offices and operating room, and the basement will be used for a workshop and storage room, and it is expected that the building as proposed here will serve the company for a good many years to come, unless the growth is even more rapid than it has been in the past.

It is proposed to put in a switchboard of a later and more improved type than the one now in use, and by this method improve the service somewhat over what it is at the present time. This new board will be of the semiautomatic type and is so arranged that when once the operator has made the connection called for the matter passes out of her hands and it is impossible for her to disconnect the connection. It will be placed over the lines. This style of board is supposed to give the most rapid service of any in existence at the present time. It being more rapid than the straight automatic, from the fact that an experienced girl in the office can make the connection quicker than can the subscriber with the use of the dial with which the automatics are supplied.

Bids on the construction of the new building will be called for at once and it is expected that it will not be very long before a start is made on the structure.

This new building will house the most modern form of telephone equipment in use today, and the contract for said apparatus was on Wednesday last awarded to the Kellogg Board & Supply Co. of Chicago, one of the oldest and largest manufacturers of telephone equipment.

In the present system operated by the Wood County Telephone Co., some principles embodied in the service are objectionable and since the old board was installed in 1907 many betterments in the development of the telephone art have been made.

On the present system at what is termed the "busy hour" in telephone traffic, each operator being able to answer a certain number of calls, the answering time necessarily is slow, but with the new switchboard any operator can wait upon any subscriber, that is, the first idle girl gets the call, and the answering time is considerably faster.

In the present switchboard it is possible for a local operator to listen on at talking connection, and while they are usually too busy to do this, yet the subscriber feels that he is listening, while with the new switchboard no operator can "listen in" on a talking connection or one established in other words, there is "secret" and the subscriber also knows if he has no listening key with which to listen, her efforts in handling and completing calls are not retarded, consequently she handles a far greater number of calls.

The system to be installed is also equipped with automatic machine ringing. Heretofore the operator did the ringing manually. This took up much of her time on re-ringing. Now with the new switchboard the last function an operator has in completing a call is in setting an automatic machine ringing key, at which time the telephone line is disconnected from the connection, and the machine rings the called party's bell one second on and four seconds idle intermittently until the called party answers or the calling party hangs up, at which time the automatic ringing ceases. The calling party also receives an audible tone in his receiver which indicates to him the called party is being reached.

It is not necessary for the subscriber to ask the operator to ring the called party.

Another splendid feature embodied in the new switchboard is an auto-matic recall. On the present switchboard after completing the first call or conversation, it has been difficult to attract the attention of the operator to initiate a second call or recall. This was due to the operator who handled your first call being busy handling other calls. On the new switchboard when the party who created the first call has a recall or a second call, he simply depresses and releases his receiver hook and his lamp not only appears before the operator who handled his first call, but (two ways) he is in front of all other operators as well. Therefore, the recall answering time is as fast as the original call answering time.

There are many other improvements incorporated in the new switchboard, all designed for improving the service. Manager Smart has been spending considerable time in investigating all kinds of apparatus, and only after many months, reached this decision.

The same service to be given by the new switchboard is installed in Kellogg boards in Cleveland, Ohio, Toledo, Ohio, Portsmouth, Ohio, Portage, Wisconsin, Rice Lake, Wisconsin, Alpena, Michigan, Chillicothe, Ohio, Johnstown, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kansas City, Missouri, and about sixty-five additional large cities in the United States.

INSPECTED OUR FACILITIES

H. G. Jordan and J. Wedell of Milwaukee spent several days in this city last week inspecting our fire apparatus and facilities for fighting fires. Mr. Jordan is chief engineer of the Wisconsin Inspection Bureau and came here upon the invitation of the members of the Merchants and Manufacturers association for the purpose of discovering the condition of the city and its facilities for the purpose of making a new insurance rating if possible.

It seems that Grand Rapids insurance men have been operating under a rating that is several years old, since the establishment of which several improvements have been made, and it was hoped that a new rating would be the result.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY TAKES PLACE JUNE 1

It is not often that a senior class play will answer to both the call of the class and the demands of the public. This year, however, the play "The Man of the Hour" is one which will please any audience of the present time because of the exceedingly "modern" plot. At this time, when patriotism and love for one's country rules supreme in every heart, nothing could be more apropos than "The Man of the Hour."

In this famous play Mr. Broadhurst has much love and politics in an absorbing manner. Taking the theme of political graft in municipal affairs, he has made the work timely and has shown the old conflict between love and duty under new and interesting conditions.

Alwyn Bennett, who becomes "The Man of the Hour" is the son of a kind and indulgent mother. He is an idler. He loves Dallas Wainwright, the niece of a wealthy and scheming man. Before Dallas will marry him, she insists that he do a man's work and cease to be a looker-on. So when the political ring, of which Horigan is boss, offers him the nomination for mayor, he accepts. He is picked out as the man who will do the right thing, and who can be handled. Instead of doing the "right thing" as interpreted by his grafting promoters, he is firm in his determination to do right. He follows unflinchingly the course of duty and honor, even though it seems to mean at the time the sacrifice of his life.

This is one of the strongest and most pleasing of recent plays of love, ambition, honor and politics and it is full of natural humor that effervesces from situations right charged with laugh-producing possibilities. The cast has been working with Miss Killo for eight weeks and much excellent work has been accomplished. Each and every character fits exactly into the part assigned and the interest and enthusiasm displayed in rehearsals is remarkable.

If such could be the case, we know they will, the class of '17 will have due reason to be proud of their class play.

The cast of characters is as follows:

Alwyn Bennett.....Howard Lyons	Dallas Wainwright.....Leon Rider
Scott G. Gibbs.....Leo Rider	James Philbin.....Spencer Clapp
Henry Carter.....Alvin Bennett	Henry Thompson.....Donald Day
Henry Williams.....Edward Bilyew	Henry Williams.....Edward Bilyew

SCHREIBER-BANDELIN

People who passed the entrance to the Bandelin & Houston dental parlors Tuesday morning were considerably surprised to see a box of cigars sitting on a barrel at the foot of the stairs with a card signed "Take care of the smokers, while at the bottom was signed the name of Carl Bandelin. Some were inclined to think it was a hoax, as Carl had side-stopped the stairs of the fair sex for so long that he was supposed to be proof against the attacks of Cupid. However, investigation proved everything to be what the square eyes developed the fact that the evening before Mr. Bandelin and Mrs. Olga Schreiber had been quietly married at the Congregational church.

Both the contracting parties are well and favorably known in this city, the bride having made her home here for a number of years past, and is a most capable and capable girl. TRAINING FLEET FOR LAKES

A fleet of training ships shortly will be sailing on the great lakes, it was announced at the United States naval training station at Great Lakes, Ill. Captain W. A. Moffett, commandant, has planned the mobilization of a number of vessels mounting guns ranging from one pounders to six-inch pieces. The fleet will serve to train recruits passing thru the training stations there, which has been greatly expanded since the outbreak of war, in addition to protecting lake cities.

The steamer Eastland, which turned over in the Chicago river in 1915 with a loss of 312 lives and which is now being rebuilt as a gunboat, will be the flag-ship.

It is the belief of the naval commandant that the fleet will be two of the former Spanish gun-boats which were captured by Dewey at Manila bay.

YOUNG KENTUCKIAN LANDS IN JAIL HERE

A young fellow who gave his name as Rufus Hill, and claimed to hail from Middleborough, Kentucky, arrived in the city via the blind baggage on Thursday and that evening was picked up by the police and confined in the west side lockup. The fellow's plight was discovered by Prof. M. H. Jackson, who got the boy released, saw that he was given a bath and properly dressed, and the little fellow has since been taken care of by Rev. Hanson of the Baptist church.

The story told by the youthful traveler is to the effect that both his parents are dead and that he lived with an uncle in Kentucky. He was fourteen years old and he found his life so hard down in that country that he decided to run away. He went his way as far as Chicago on freight trains, but the size of the big city was too much for him and he made his mind to return to Kentucky. He got onto a freight train and got out of Chicago all right, but discovered that he had lost his bearings and was on his way north instead of south toward home as he supposed. When he arrived here he was picked up by the police and placed in the calaboose, it being supposed that he had escaped from some institution and was lying to throw the police off the trail.

The police have been censured quite severely for putting the boy in jail, or at least for keeping him in the west side lockup, but the police do not build the jails and this was the best place that is supplied by the city for this purpose. The youthful fellow is now in good hands and has every chance in the world to make good.

DEATH OF MRS. F. HIRSCH

Merrill Herald: The sad demise of Mrs. Emma Wilke Hirsch of Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, occurred yesterday morning at 2 o'clock at the home of her sister, Mrs. Martin Hanneman, Fourth street, this city, where she was taken last Wednesday in the hopes that the loving care of sisters and parents could assist in the restoration of her former good health. But all efforts were in vain and she answered the final summons after six months' suffering with diabetes.

Mrs. Hirsch was born in the town of Scott, this county, on April 28, 1885, and anniversary last month. She was a resident of this city for many years and has a host of friends here who will be grieved to learn of her death. On June 1, 1913, she was united in marriage to Fred Hirsch, since which time the couple made their home in Grand Rapids, the husband being in the employ of E. W. Ellis as chauffeur.

Besides her grieving husband, she leaves seven sisters, two brothers, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Scott, of Scott, to mourn her loss. The sisters are: Mrs. Martin Hanneman, Mrs. Robert Badeau, Mrs. Fred Lambert, all of this city; Misses Bertha and Mildred of the town of Scott; Mrs. Emil Rusch of the town of Maine and Mrs. Frank Kamfs of Grand Rapids. The brothers are: Henry and Robert Wilke of the town of Scott.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon from the Martin Hanneman home at 1:15 o'clock and at 1:30 o'clock from the St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church, Rev. H. Daib to have charge of the obsequies.

Paul Zemrow will leave on Saturday for Washington, where he will join his friend, Hanover Clout, a former Grand Rapids boy, and who is now third assistant in the post master general's office, and together they will go on a ten day fishing trip in the Pennsylvania mountains. Paul will also take in the sights at the capital before returning.

Mrs. D. Madigan of Marinette and Mrs. Peter Doyle of Modford are visiting at the Mrs. Nels Johnson and Peter McCamley homes this week.

COMING MARRIAGE

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Miss Clara Matthews of this city to Mr. A. Luedtke of Milwaukee, the event to take place at the home of the bride June 7th.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jule Matthews, a respected family of this city. Mr. Luedtke was born and grew to manhood in Milwaukee. At present he is employed as shipping clerk for the Northwestern R. R. Co., and is a young man that is making good in the business world.

REGISTRATION DAY SET FOR JUNE 5th

All the county clerks of the state have been notified that the day for registration has been definitely set for the 5th of June. The county clerks had been supplied with blanks heretofore, and when the day comes, everything will be in readiness for the work.

The polls will be open at 7 o'clock in the morning and every man in the community between the ages of 21 and 30 years inclusive, is required to go to the polls and register on that day. The polls will remain open until 9 o'clock in the evening. Failure to register is a punishable offense and is expected for one year in the penitentiary. The election officers are also compelled to see that registrations are made and may collect for these services, but are asked to do so judiciously.

Those who are away from home or are sick on registration day may register by mail, but they are all compelled to register. The draft will be made the same as in drawing a jury, the names of the eligibles being placed in a box and drawn by lot. Those who are ineligible thru physical disability or from having dependents on them will be rejected and others drawn in their place.

It is expected that the number will be about 150 drawn from Wood county, as the number registered will be about 3,000. The usual polling places in the various wards of the county will be used for registration places.

LABOR BUREAU

"More food this year is Patriotism." This is the watch-word of the hour. One of the big propositions is to get the necessary labor. H. C. Taylor, chairman of the National Council of Defense is organizing local labor agencies thruout the state.

Arrangements have been made for the present system at which Fred Ellsworth, Vesper, A. F. Nelson, Grand Rapids; F. L. Musbach, Marshfield; J. F. Feldt, Pittsville; and C. K. Seitzkorn, Arpin, will act in this capacity.

If you are in want of help, get in touch with these men. They will be in touch with the state and county labor bureaus, and perhaps can do something for you.

While this food production is strong in your mind, do not forget to plan the raising of all possible crops for your stock this coming winter.

I have talked to some farmers and they don't like the high price of feed, but they don't like the high price of the price of butter and cheese, that is, from the farmer's standpoint. If you can raise most of what your stock eat and still get the high prices of the products that you sell, you are on the way to making some profit.

Now is the time to think about this and not next February or March, when your hay and silage is about gone.

Are you doing your best along this line?

W. W. CLARK.

County Agricultural School.

LICENSES MUST BE POSTED

Hereafter the names of those who take out marriage licenses must be posted in a conspicuous place by the county clerk so that they can be seen by any person visiting the court house. This is in accordance with a new law recently passed and will go into effect the first of next year.

The idea in having those who intend to get married take out a license was partly for the purpose of giving the matter publicity, and the five-day clause was for the purpose of preventing hasty marriages. However, the first part of the law was often defeated by the contracting parties asking the county clerk to keep the matter quiet. The records were always open to examination, but it was an easy matter for the clerk or one of his assistants to keep the names of those who had been issued for some time, and the result was that anybody looking over the records would be very apt to miss the license altogether, and the result would be that the parties would be married before the general public had anything about the matter. It is probable that, in most cases, no harm was done by the deception, although it was not the intent of the law that things should be handled in this manner.

BREEDERS' MEETING

At Marshfield, Wisconsin, June 14 at picnic grounds, one mile from town. This is a meeting of the Grand Rapids Live Stock Breeders Association, and we expect to make it a good one.

We expect to have with us Mr. Cummings of Eau Claire, Mr. Hunsbarger of Madison and Mr. Griswold of West Salem. You all know what these men are and what they can do in the line of a talk on the dairy subjects.

There will be a program of games for the younger people. Refreshments of some sort will be served. More about this later.

The following committees have been appointed:

General. J. C. Kieffer, P. L. Musbach, W. W. Clark.

Games. J. C. Kieffer, A. P. Bean, Bert Gates.

Refreshments. Wm. Burhop, Mr. Graham, Rev. Peckham.

SEWER CONNECTIONS IN

WILL GO TO CAMP DOUGLAS

The Wisconsin National Guard has been ordered to mobilize at Camp Douglas on the 15th of July, and will include the local cavalry troop. When the boys go to camp they will receive some instruction in the use of arms and be instructed in the use of arms as to be in readiness in case there is a call for them later on.

LANDS OPEN FOR GARDENING

The C. M. & St. P. railroad has issued posters stating that all lands owned by that company are open for gardening by any person who may apply to the station agent or section foreman. People who have not yet acquired a piece of ground for planting should avail themselves of this opportunity.

NEW BUILDING FOR THE TELEPHONE CO.

At the meeting of stockholders of the Wood County Telephone company held at the Elk Club Monday evening, it was decided unanimously by those present that the proper thing to do during the present year was to put up a building for the use of the company. There were about fifty present at the meeting, and considerable talk was indulged in, so that the matter was pretty thoroughly threshed out before it was dropped.

The location that has been selected by the directors of the company lies between the Elk Club and the Wood block, and is so located that when the new building is completed there will be a square lot around it and light on all four sides. The new building as shown in the plans submitted will be 30x70 feet, with one story and a basement. It will be the idea to use the first floor for offices and operating room, and the basement will be used for a workshop and storage room, and it is expected that the building as planned here will serve the company for a good many years to come, unless the growth is even more rapid than it has been in the past.

It is proposed to put in a switchboard of a later and more improved type than the one now in use, and by this method improve the service of the present system at what is present time. This new board will be of the semi-automatic type and is so arranged that when once the operator has made a connection, the matter passes out of her hands and it is impossible for her to listen in to any conversation that may take place over the line. This style of board is supposed to give the most rapid service of any in existence at the present time, it being more rapid than the straight automatic, from the fact that the pasteurized girl in the office can make the connection quicker than can the subscriber with the use of the dial with which the automatic is equipped.

This new building will house the most modern form of telephone equipment in use today, and the new principle embodied was on Wednesday awarded to the Kellogg Switchboard & Supply Co. of Chicago, one of the oldest and largest manufacturers of telephone equipment.

In the present system operated by the Wood County Telephone Co., some principles embodied in the new system are objectionable and since the old board was installed in 1907 many betterments in the development of the telephone art have been made. The new system, as it is termed the "busy hour" in telephone traffic, each operator being able to answer a certain number of subscribers, the answering time is so slow, but with the new switchboard any operator can wait upon any subscriber that is, the first idle girl gets the call. The new system is considerably faster, in the present switchboard it is possible for a local operator to listen on at talking connection, and while they are usually too busy to do this, yet the subscriber feels that he is listening, while with the new switchboard no operator can "listen in" on a talking connection, and the machine is not in other words, there is "secret service." This also means if she has no listening key with which to listen, her efforts in handling calls are completely wasted, and the subscriber consequently she handles a far greater number of calls.

The system to be installed is also equipped with automatic switching. Heretofore the operator did the ringing manually. This took up much of her time on re-ringing. Now with the new switchboard, the function an operator has in completing a call is in setting an automatic machine ringing key, at which time her telephone set is disconnected from the connection, and the machine rings the called party's bell one second and on four seconds later intermittently until the called party answers or the calling party hangs up, at which time the automatic ringing ceases. The calling party also receives an audible tone in his receiver which indicates to him the called party is being connected. This is not necessary for the calling subscriber to ask the operator to ring the called party.

Another splendid feature embodied in the new switchboard is an automatic recall. On the present switchboard after completing the first call to the called party, the operator to initiate a second call or recall. This, most likely, was due to the operator who handled your first call being busy handling other calls. On the new switchboard when the party who created the first call has indicated talking and desire to make a recall or second call, he simply depresses his release key, his receiver hook and his lamp not only appears before the operator who handled his first call (who may be busy), but in front of all other operators as well. Therefore, the recall answering time is as fast as the original call answering time.

There are many other improvements incorporated in the new switchboard, all designed for improving the service. Manager Smart has been expending considerable time in investigating all kinds of apparatus, and only after many months, reached this decision.

The same service to be given by the new switchboard is installed in Kellogg boards in Cleveland, Ohio, Toledo, Ohio, Portsmouth, Ohio, Portage, Wisconsin, Rice Lake, Wisconsin, Alpena, Michigan, Chillicothe, Ohio, Johnstown, Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Warren, Ohio, Kansas City, Missouri, and about sixty-five additional large cities in the United States.

RECRUITING ACTIVE SAYS GEN. HOLWAY

ALL REGIMENTS EXCEPT THIRD
AT WAR STRENGTH—ORDERS
ARE AWAITED.

NORTH TO FORM REGIMENT

Will Be Called Upon to Organize National Guard Company to Bring
State's Quota to Required
16,000 Men.

Madison—Adj. Gen. Orlando Holway says recruiting for the Wisconsin national guard has reached a point where all the regiments are practically at war strength, except the Third, which has been mustered into federal service and is now under federal control.

The Third Wisconsin regiment is not yet recruited up to full war strength, because no order has been issued. Recruits can be furnished to the Third regiment as soon as the government desires.

Gen. Holway declares that there is no question but that the order for full strength recruiting was intended to include the regiments in the national guard service as well as the other national guard regiments, and he expects such an order very soon.

The Third regiment has been in federal service ever since the declaration of a state of war against Germany. It is, however, the only Wisconsin regiment which has so far been called into the government service. The expectation is that the call for other regiments will come soon.

Northern Wisconsin will be called upon during the next two weeks to raise a national guard regiment to bring Wisconsin's quota up to the required 16,000 men. The new regiment will be organized by Major Marshall Cousins of Eau Claire, in command of the provisional battalion of the Third Wisconsin on guard duty in Superior, and by Major Emmanuel Rosseter, Superior, of the adjutant general's office.

"VOTE FUND FOR UNIVERSITY"

Senate Passes Two Bills Providing
$176,000 More Than for Present
School Biennium.

Madison—The senate passed two bills appropriating $545,539 for the Wisconsin university proper and $95,759 for the university extension department for the two years beginning July 1 next. The appropriation for the university proper is $125,000 larger, and that for the extension department $51,000 larger than for the present school biennium. One-half of the increase for the university proper is for the increased cost in coal to be used in purchasing heat and power for the institution. The increase for the extension department is for the purpose of medical extension and state defense council work.

Senate committees recommended concurrences in joint resolutions for the constitutionality of the amendments empowering the legislature to decrease the number of judicial circuits in the state and making sheriffs eligible to successive terms of office, for passage of the Pullen bill, providing for licensing house cats, and for indefinite postponement the Schultz bill placing the Milwaukee natoria and bathing beaches under school board control.

Madison—Under a new law all town and village assessors are required to report direct to Madison acreage planted to various crops, and number of livestock.

This information is not for purposes of taxation, but for the Wisconsin department of agriculture and the state and national councils of defense.

Every farmer is urged to furnish to the assessor as accurate and careful information as he can of the number of acres of each crop he has planted or intends to plant, as well as the number of livestock.

Much of the corn, potatoes, beans and other late-planted crops will not be in the ground when the assessor visits the farm, but the farmer will know very nearly how many acres he intends to plant.

WILL REVISE TIME TABLE

Train Schedule in Wisconsin to Be Changed Due to Demand for Transportation of Troops.

Madison—The railroad map of Wisconsin will be changed by the war, due to the demands of the federal government for the transportation of troops. New schedules will mean fewer trains, will be worked out by the state council of defense on the basis of schedules to be suggested by the men in Washington, who are operating the railroads for the national government.

P. C. Eldridge of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road, who is a member of the state council of defense, says it is highly important for the people to realize the position of the railroads in this great war emergency. The companies, he says, have entered into an agreement to merge the competitive activities and co-ordinate their operations in a continental railway system, in order to produce the maximum of national transportation efficiency during the war.

From a practical standpoint, passenger service will not be crippled, but there will be fewer trains, and the people of Wisconsin will be expected to adjust themselves to conditions forced by the movement of troops to points of mobilization.

The plan, as it has been brought to the attention of the council of defense, is to discontinue "one hour service" in some instances, and in others to materially reduce the number of trains, so that the equipment required by the federal government for the handling of troops will be available as it is needed.

SENTENCE RACINE BANKERS

Charles Carpenter Given Two and a Half Year and Fines Must Pay a $500 Fine.

Milwaukee—Charles R. Carpenter, former cashier of the Commercial and Savings bank of Racine, who pleaded guilty to violating state banking laws, was sentenced to two years and six months in the house of correction by Municipal Judge A. C. Beckus. For conspiring similar violations, which finally wrecked the bank, former President B. H. Hinkley was fined $500.

The two bankers were indicted in Racine county and the case was brought to Milwaukee for trial, but when the trials were about to open, both changed their pleas to guilty to several counts in the indictments.

The bank closed Sept. 17, 1914, after State Banking Commissioner A. E. Knott had uncovered false statements in reports by the officials. Carpenter and Hinkley were charged in the main with having reported increases in the amount of money due from reserve banks and minimizing amounts of overdrafts.

In sentencing them Judge Beckus stated that he did not believe they had any intention of wrongdoing, but had been actuated by a desire to aid friends who were in financial difficulties.

However, the law has been violated and I must make an example of the defendants," said the court. Hinkley, who is 62 years old, is said to have become almost a pauper, his fortune of $60,000 having been given over to creditors of the bank.

Conservation Warden Investigates
Complaint That Animals

Sheboygan—Conservation Warden V. C. Buell, who recently was called to the vicinity of Kiel and New Holstein by complaint of Manitowish and Sheboygan county farmers that deer were ruining their crops, reports that not less than 200 deer are ranging in the vast expanse of swamp land which runs for a distance of fifteen miles west from the shores of Lake Michigan between the counties of Sheboygan and Manitowish.

He discovered in his investigations that the deer jump fences to get at the farmers' wheat fields, and already have caused many hundred dollars' damage.

Farmers desired the privilege of shooting the animals, but this was vetoed by the conservation commission, which has instructed the farmers to keep the deer off as best they can, and promised that next fall, after the crop is harvested, the commission will reimburse them for any losses which they may have sustained.

BUSINESSMEN AND BANKERS GIVE AID

LABOR AND FINANCIAL ASSIST-
ANCE FURNISHED TO WIS-CONSIN FARMERS.

FARM HELP BIG PROBLEM

Experienced Laborers and Boys Who
Are Willing to Work on the Farm
Throughout the Summer
Are Wanted.

Madison—Bankers and other business men throughout the state are assisting the farmers in the work of increasing Wisconsin's agricultural yield, according to a statement made at the office of the state council of defense.

The work lies along two lines—first, assistance to farmers who need money to purchase more seed and farm supplies.

Farm help is the big problem of the farmer at the present time. Everywhere the cry of the farmer has been, "Where will we get sufficient help to cultivate and harvest our crops?" The bankers realize that unless this help is forthcoming, crops next fall will not be a success.

They are seeking, accordingly, not only experienced farm laborers, but also boys who are willing to work on farms throughout the summer. The Rotary club of Milwaukee is giving great assistance to the farmers of the state by looking after the interests of such boys who secure employment for the summer period.

In order to enable the farmers to secure plenty of seed at fair prices, a large number of the bankers have adopted a plan whereby farmers have extended accommodations beyond the ordinary.

Many Treat Seed Potatoes.

Barron—Commercial potato growers of Barron county are busy treating seed potatoes with corrosive sublimate solution, and it is thought that more precaution is being taken this year than ever before in guarding the county's tuber crop against such diseases as scab and black scurf. Many farmers throughout the potato sections of the north especially are disinfecting their seed stock in the proper manner. Officials of the State Agricultural college at work here are advocating the use of corrosive sublimate as the best in place of formaldehyde because of the prevalence of black scurf, which cannot be controlled by the latter.

BILLIONS FOR WAR

ALL RECORDS BROKEN WHEN
SENATE BODY REPORTS BILL
FOR $3,390,946,000.

F. R. ARMY PLAN ACCEPTED

Conferees on Measure Agree to Report
It With Provision Authorizing
President to Raise Volunteer Regiment.

Washington, May 17.—All appropriation records of congress were broken on Tuesday when the senate appropriations committee reported the war army and navy deficiency bill, carrying a total of $3,390,946,000, including $400,000,000 for construction and purchase of an American merchant marine.

The committee added $558,392,000 to the house bill. Among the senate increases were $500,000 for the council of national defense, $1,000,000 for detention of interned Germans, $20,000,000 for army machine guns and $35,000,000 for heavy army ordnance.

For the new American merchant fleet they directed immediate appropriation of $400,000,000 and authorized $350,000,000 more for use later as an "emergency shipping fund."

The bill authorizes the government to commandeer shipyards, factories or the products of such factories and to take over existing shipbuilding contracts of private individuals or foreign governments. Construction of the clippers taken over are to be paid for at a reasonable price. Persons refusing to deliver regulated factories or establishments would be penalized.

Senate and house conferees on the army bill agreed to report the measure with the provision authorizing the president to raise the volunteer division Colonel Roosevelt desires to lead to France. No other changes in the bill were made by the conferees.

The conferees accepted without change the house provision for the Roosevelt volunteers. As the senate by a large vote previously approved the volunteer force, its final adoption by both houses is regarded as certain.

Conferees decided not to reopen other questions. The conscription act remains from twenty-one to thirty years inclusive. Before the week ends the conferees hope to have the bill finally adopted by both houses and sent to the president.

The senate section barring liquor from military camps and otherwise protecting morals of the new army promised some house opposition, but it was believed the clause would be retained.

RECRUITING ACTIVE SAYS GEN. HOLWAY

ALL REGIMENTS EXCEPT THIRD
AT WAR STRENGTH—ORDERS
ARE AWAITED.

NORTH TO FORM REGIMENT

Will Be Called Upon to Organize National Guard Company to Bring
State's Quota to Required
16,000 Men.

Madison—Adj. Gen. Orlando Holway says recruiting for the Wisconsin national guard has reached a point where all the regiments are practically at war strength, except the Third, which has been mustered into federal service and is now under federal control.

The Third Wisconsin regiment is not yet recruited up to full war strength, because no order has been issued. Recruits can be furnished to the Third regiment as soon as the government orders.

Gen. Holway declares that there is no question but that the order for full strength recruiting was intended to include the regiments in the federal service as well as the other national guard regiments, and he expects such an order early.

The Third regiment has been in federal service ever since the declaration of a state of war against Germany. It is, however, the only Wisconsin regiment which has so far been called into the government service.

Gen. Holway says that the call for other regiments will come soon.

Northern Wisconsin will be called upon during the next two weeks to bring Wisconsin's quota up to the required 16,000 men.

The new regiment will be organized by Major Marshall Cousins, U. S. Army, in command of the provisional battalion of the Third Wisconsin on guard duty in Superior, and by Major Emmanuel Rossier, U. S. Army, of the adjutant general's office.

CONSIN FARMERS.

FARM HELP BIG PROBLEM

Experienced, Laborers and Boys Who
Are Willing to Work on the Farm
Throughout the Summer
Are Wanted.

Madison—Bankers and other business men throughout the state are assisting the farmers in the work of increasing Wisconsin's agricultural yield, according to a statement made at the office of the state council of defense.

The work lies along two lines—first, assistance to farmers who need money to purchase more seed and farm supplies.

Second help is the big problem of farm labor at the present time. Everywhere the cry of the farmer has been, "Where will we get sufficient help to cultivate and harvest our crops?"

The bankers realize that unless this help is forthcoming, crops next fall will not be a success.

They are seeking, accordingly, not only experienced farm laborers, but also boys who are willing to work on farms throughout the summer. The Rotary club of Milwaukee is giving great assistance to the farmers in this work, by looking after the interests of such boys who secure employment for the summer period.

In order to enable the farmers to secure plenty of seed at fair prices, a large number of the bankers have adopted a plan, whereby farmers are furnished accommodations beyond the ordinary.

BILLIONS FOR WAR

ALL RECORDS BROKEN WHEN
SENATE BODY REPORTS BILL
FOR $3,390,946,000.

F. R. ARMY PLAN ACCEPTED

Conference on Measure Agree to Report
It With Provision Authorizing
President to Raise Volunteer Regiment.

Washington, May 17.—All appropriation records of congress were broken on Thursday when the senate appropriations committee reported the war, army and navy deficiency bill, carrying a total of $3,390,946,000, including $100,000,000 for construction and purchase of an American merchant marine.

The committee added $503,392,000 to the house bill. Among the senate increases were $500,000 for the construction of national defense, $1,000,000 for decoration of interned Germans, $25,000,000 for army machine guns and $35,000,000 for heavy army ordinance.

For the new American merchant fleet they directed immediate appropriation of $400,000,000 and authorized $300,000,000 more for use later as an "emergency shipping fund."

The bill authorizes the government to commandeer shipyards, factories or the products of such factories and to take over existing shipbuilding contracts of private individuals or foreign governments. Construction facilities taken over are to be paid for at a reasonable price. Persons refusing to deliver requisitioned factories or establishments would be penalized.

Senate and house conferees on the army bill agreed to report the measure with the provision authorizing the president to raise the volunteer division Colonel Roosevelt desires to lead to France. No other changes in the bill were made by the conferees.

The conferees accepted without change the provision for the raising of volunteer battalions. As the senate by a large vote previously approved the volunteer force, its final adoption by both houses is regarded as certain.

Conferees decided not to reopen other questions. The conscription act remains from twenty-one to thirty years inclusive. It has the week-end conferees hope to have the bill finally adopted by both houses and sent to the president.

The senate session barring liquor from military camps and otherwise protecting morals of the new army promised some house opposition, but it was believed the clause would be retained.

RECRUITING ACTIVE SAYS GEN. HOLWAY

ALL REGIMENTS EXCEPT THIRD
AT WAR STRENGTH—ORDERS
ARE AWAITED.

NORTH TO REGIMENT

Will Be Called Upon to Organize National Guard Company to Bring State's Quota to Required 16,000 Men.

Madison—Adj. Gen. Orlando Holway says recruiting in the Wisconsin National Guard has reached a point where all the regiments are practically at war strength, except the Third, which has been mustered into federal service and is now under federal control. The Third Wisconsin is not yet recruited to full war strength, because no order has been issued. Recruits can be furnished to the Third regiment as soon as the government desires.

Gen. Holway declares that there is no question but that the order for full strength recruiting was intended to include the regiments in the federal service as well as the other national guard regiments, and he expects such an order very soon.

The Third regiment has been in federal service ever since the declaration of a state of war against Germany. It is, however, the only Wisconsin regiment which has not been called into federal service. The explanation is that the call for other regiments will come soon.

Northern Wisconsin will be called upon during the next two weeks to raise a national guard regiment to bring Wisconsin's quota up to the required 16,000 men. The new regiment will be organized by Major Marshall Cousins of Eau Claire, in command of the provisional battalion of the Third Wisconsin on guard duty in Superior, and by Major Emmanuel Kosser, Superior, of the adjutant general's office.

VOTE FUND FOR UNIVERSITY

Senate Passes Two Bills Providing $176,000 More Than Present School Biennium.

One-half of the increase for the university proper is for the increased cost of tuition, but the increased cost of tuition is to be used in providing for the extension department. The increase for the extension department is for the purpose of medical extension and state defense council work.

Senate committees recommended concurrence in joint resolutions for constitutional amendments empowering the legislature to decrease the number of judicial circuits in the state and making sheriffs eligible to successive terms of office, for passage of the act, and for the purpose of medical extension and state defense council work.

WILL REVISE TIME TABLE

Train Schedule in Wisconsin to Be Changed Due to Demand for Transportation of Troops.

Madison—The railroad map of Wisconsin will be changed by the war, due to the demands of the federal government for the transportation of troops. New schedules will mean that the state council of defense on the basis of schedules to be suggested by the men in Washington, who are operating the railroads for the national government.

P. C. Eldridge of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road, who is a member of the state council of defense, says it is highly important that the state council of defense on the basis of schedules to be suggested by the men in Washington, who are operating the railroads for the national government.

From a practical standpoint, passenger service will not be crippled, but there will be fewer trains, and the people of Wisconsin will be expected to adjust themselves to conditions forced by the movement of troops to points of mobilization.

The plan, as it has been brought to the attention of the council of defense, is to discontinue "hour service" in some instances, and in others to make the number of trains, and the equipment required by the federal government for the handling of troops will be available as it is needed.

BILLIONS FOR WAR

ALL RECORDS BROKEN WHEN SENATE BODY REPORTS BILL FOR $3,390,946,000.

F. R. ARMY PLAN ACCEPTED

Conferees on Measure Agree to Report It With Provision Authorizing President to Raise Volunteer Regiment.

Washington, May 17.—All appropriation records of congress were broken on Tuesday when the senate appropriations committee reported the war, army and navy deficiency bill, carrying a total of $3,390,946,000, including $400,000,000 for construction and purchase of an American merchant marine.

The committee added $503,392,000 to the house bill. Among the senate increases were $500,000 for the council of national defense, $1,000,000 for the defense of interned Germans, $250,000 for army machine guns and $35,000,000 for heavy army ordnance.

For the new American merchant fleet they directed immediate appropriation of $400,000,000 and authorized $350,000,000 more for use later as an "emergency shipping fund."

The bill authorizes the government to commandeer shipyards, factories or the products of such factories and to take over existing shipbuilding contracts of private individuals or foreign governments. Construction facilities taken over are to be paid for at a reasonable price. Persons refusing to deliver requisitioned factories or establishments would be penalized.

Senate agreed to report the measure with the provision authorizing the president to raise the volunteer division Colonel Roosevelt desires to lead to France. No other changes in the bill were made by the conferees.

The conferees accepted the change the house provision for the Roosevelt volunteers. As the senate bill by a large vote previously approved by the volunteer force, its final adoption by both houses is regarded as certain.

Conferees decided not to reopen other questions. The conscription age remains from twenty-one to thirty years inclusive. Before the war the bill the conferees hope to have the bill finally adopted by both houses and sent to the president.

The senate section barring liquor from military camps and otherwise protecting morals of the new army promised some house opposition, but it was believed the clause would be retained.

Washington, May 17.—Labor and capital must cooperate in sacrifice, said Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, before a great gathering of American capitalists and labor leaders in Washington on Tuesday.

President Wilson warned the nation to be prepared to make heavy sacrifices to insure victory.

Addressing the committee on labor of the council of national defense advisory commission, labor representatives and capitalists at the White House, the president declared the United States must steel itself to meet the "terrible pressure of suffering and pain of war."

U. S. FLEET ON DUTY

AMERICAN DESTROYERS UNDER COMMAND OF ADMIRAL MAYO PATROL WAR ZONE.

WELCOMED BY THE BRITISH

People Give Tars Warm Welcome—Surprised When Told Ships Are Ready for Action—Fight U-Boats.

London, May 18.—The British admiralty announced on Wednesday that American destroyers had arrived in British waters.

"The British admiralty states that a flotilla of United States destroyers recently arrived in this country to cooperate with our naval forces in the prosecution of the war," is the text of the official statement.

Rear Admiral Sims, U. S. N., who is in general command of all the United States naval forces that are sent to European waters, is in daily touch with the chief of the British naval staff.

The admiralty announcement says the services which the American vessels are rendering to the allied cause are of the greatest value and are appreciated deeply.

Messages of greeting were exchanged between Admiral Sir David Beatty, commanding the British grand fleet, and Admiral Mayo, commander of the American Atlantic fleet.

"The grand fleet rejoices that the Atlantic fleet now shares the task of preserving the liberties of the world and maintaining the chivalry on the seas," Beatty's message to Mayo stated.

In reply, Admiral Mayo said: "The Atlantic fleet appreciates your message and welcomes the opportunity to work with the British for freedom of the seas."

After the exchange of shore greetings and the British commander had congratulated the American officers on their safe voyage, he asked: "When will you be ready for business?"

"We are ready to start at once," the American commander replied promptly.

This response, so characteristically American, surprised the British commander, who said he had not expected the Americans would be ready to begin work on this side so soon after their long voyage.

The senior section of the American fleet of the destroyers and admitted that the American tars looked prepared.

"Yes," replied the American commander, "we made preparations on the way over. That is why we are ready."

The American navy's actual entry into the war zone has already been productive of a number of successes, according to an announcement by the British admiralty, but the result of it has not been made public.

A crowd of several hundred persons, some of them carrying tiny American flags, lined the water front and cheered the destroyers from the moment they sighted the flotilla until it reached the dock.

On arriving in Queenstown some of the members of the crews of the destroyers were granted brief leave. They were fairly made captive by the townspeople, who insisted on taking them to their homes.

$100,000,000 FOR RUSSIA

Money Must Be Expended Here Under American Supervision—German Intrigue at Work.

Washington, May 18.—The government on Wednesday made its first loan to Russia, $100,000,000, limiting the amount thus far advanced to the allies up to $200,000,000. In making the $100,000,000 loan to Russia the government stipulated and Russia agreed that the entire sum would be spent in this country and that all purchases would be made under the supervision of a representative of the treasury department or a commission to that effect by this government in that capacity.

To controvert the German intrigue which seeks to convince the Russian people that the American commission headed by Elihu Root intends to lend its influence to one or another of the factions there, it was reiterated especially that the commission has no political whatever of interfering in the internal affairs of Russia.

The Real Adventure

A NOVEL

By Henry Kitchell Webster

For the next half-hour, until the car stopped in front of her house, Rose acted on this request—told about her life before and since her marriage to Rodney, about her friends, her amusements—anything that came into her mind. But she lingered before getting out of the car, to say:

"I hope I haven't forgotten a single word of your preaching. You said so many things I want to think about."

"Don't trouble your soul with that, child," said the actress. "All the sermon you need can be boiled down into a sentence, and until you have found it out yourself, you won't believe it."

"Try me," said Rose.

"Then attend. How shall I say it? Nothing worth having comes as a gift, nor even can be bought—cheap. Everything of value in your life will cost you dear, and sometime or other you'll have to pay the price of it."

It was with a very thoughtful, perplexed face that Rose watched the car drive away, and then walked slowly into the house—the ideal house—and allowed herself to be relieved of her wraps by the perfect maid.

There was still an hour before she need begin dressing for the Randolph dinner; when Rodney came home this vague, scary, nightmarish sort of feeling which for no reasonable reason seemed to be clutching at her, would be forgotten. She wished he would come—hoped he wouldn't be late, and finally sat down before the telephone with a half-formed idea of calling him up.

Just as she laid her hand upon the receiver, the telephone bell rang. It was Rodney calling her.

"Oh, that you, Rose?" he said. "I shouldn't be out till late tonight. I've got to work."

"But Rodney, dearest," she protested, "you have to come home. You've got to be the Randolphs' dinner."

"Oh!" he said. "I forgot all about it. But it doesn't make a bit of difference, anyway. I wouldn't leave the office before I have finished this job for anybody short of the Angel Gabriel."

"But—it is absurd that her eyes should be filling up and her throat getting lumpy over a thing like this—'What shall I do? Shall I tell Eleanor we can't come, or shall I offer to come without you?'"

"I don't care! Do whatever you like. I've got enough to think about without deciding that. Now do hang up and run along."

"But Rodney, what's happened? Has something gone wrong?"

"Heavens, no!" he said. "What is there to go wrong? I've got a big day in court to-morrow and I've struck a snag, and I've got to wriggle out of it somehow, before I quit. It's nothing for you to worry about. Go to your dinner and have a good time. Good-by." The click in the receiver told her he had hung up.

The difficulty about the Randolphs was managed easily enough. Eleanor was perfectly gracious about it, and insisted that Rose should come by herself.

She was completely dressed a good three-quarters of an hour before it was time to start, and if she drove straight downtown she would have a ten-minute visit with Rodney and still not be late for the dinner.

She found a single elevator in commission in the great, gloomy rotunda of the office building, and the watchman who ran her up made a terrible noise shutting the gate after he had let her out on the fifteenth floor. The dim marble corridor echoed her footfalls ominously, and when she reached the door of his outer office and tried it, she found it locked. The next door down the corridor was the one that led directly into his private office, and here the light shone through the ground glass.

She stole up to it as softly as she could, tried it and found it locked, too, so she knocked. Through the open transom above it, she heard him softly swear in a heartfelt sort of way, and heard his chair thrust back. The next moment he opened the door with a jerk.

His glare of annoyance changed to bewilderment at the sight of her, and he said: "Tosoi! Has anything happened? What's the matter?" And, catching her by the arm, he led her into the office. "Here, sit down and get your breath and tell me about it!" She smiled and took his hand in both her hands. "But it's the other way," she said. "There's nothing the matter with me. I came down, you poor old boy, to see what was the matter with you."

He frowned and took her hands away and stepped back out of her reach. Had it not been for the sheer incredulity of it, she'd have thought that her touch was actually distasteful to him.

"Oh," he said. "I thought I told you over the phone there was nothing the matter! Won't you be awfully late for the Randolphs?"

"I had ten minutes," she said, "and I thought—"

"She broke off the sentence when she saw him snap out his watch and look at it. "I know there's something," she said. "I can tell just by the way your eyes look and the way you're so tight and—strained. If you'd just tell me about it, and then sit down and let me try to take the strain away."

Beyond a doubt the strain was there. The laugh he meant for a good-humored dismissal of her fears didn't sound at all as it was intended to. "Good heavens!" he said. "There's nothing to tell! I've got an argument before the court of appeals tomorrow and there's a ruling decision against me. It is against me, and it's bad law. But that isn't what I want to tell them. I want some way of making a distinction so that I can hold that the decision doesn't rule."

"And it wouldn't help," she ventured, "if you told me all about it? I don't care about the dinner."

"I couldn't explain in a month," he said.

"Oh, I wish I were some good!" she said forlornly.

He pulled out his watch again and

CONDITIONS FOR ROSE'S HAPPINESS ARE JUST TOO PERFECT IN HER NEW HOME AND SOCIAL SET—SO NATURALLY SHE BECOMES DISSATISFIED WITH THE EASY LIFE

SYNOPSIS.

Rose Stanton, student at the University of Chicago, is put off a street car in the rain after an argument with the conductor. She is accosted by a young man who offers help and escorts her home. An hour later this man, Rodney Aldrich, well-to-do lawyer, appears at the home of his sister Fredericka (the wealthy Mrs. Whitney), and she, telling him he ought to marry, tries to interest him in a young widow. He laughs at "Freddie," but two months later he marries Rose Stanton. Rose moves from modest circumstances into a magnificent home and begins to associate with the exclusive social circle. She meets a French actress who tells her that nothing worth while is given us—for success, or happiness, or ease, or love, we must pay in some manner. These two are talking when the installment opens.

began peeling up and down the room. "I just can't stand it to see you like that," she broke out again. "If you'll only sit down for five minutes and let me try to get that strained look out of your eyes. . . ."

"Can't you take my word for it and let it alone?" he shouted. "I don't need to be comforted nor encouraged. I'm in an intellectual quandary. For the next three hours, or six, or how ever long it takes, I want my mind to run cold and smooth. I've got to be tight and strained. That's the way the job's done. You can't solve an intellectual problem by having your hand in it or your eyes closed, or anything like that. Now, for the love of heaven, child, run along and let me forget you ever existed, for a while!"

CHAPTER VII.

A Freudian Physician.

Rose's arrival at the dinner—a little late, to be sure, but not scandalously—created a mild sensation. None of the other guests were strangers, either, on whom she could have the effect of novelty. But when she came into the drawing-room—in such a wonderful glow—put on tonight because she felt somehow like especially pleasing Rodney—where she came in, she re-oxygenated the social atmosphere.

She was, in fact, a stranger. Her voice had a beat on it which roused a perfectly unreasoning physical excitement—the kind of beat which, in singing, makes all the difference between a church choir and grand opera. The glow they were accustomed to in her eyes concentrated itself into flashes, and the flush that so often, and so adorably, suffused her face, burned brighter now in her cheeks and left the rest pale.

And these were true indices of the changes that had taken place within her. From sheer numb incredulity, she had reacted to a glow of indignation. She had found herself suddenly feeling lighter, older, indiscreetly suspecting her own heart.

Her husband, James Randolph, reflected, had evidently often been making love to her, or indulging in the civilised equivalent of beating her; he was curious to find out which. And, having learned from his wife that Rose was to sit beside him at the table, he made up his mind that he would. A physician of the Freudian school, trained to analyze people's souls, he was well equipped to find out, without Rose's knowledge.

He didn't attempt it, though, during his first talk with her—confined himself rigorously to the carefully stifled chaff which does duty for polite conversation over the same hors d'oeuvres and entrees, from one dinner to the next, the season round. It wasn't until Eleanor had turned the table the second time, that he made his first gambit in the game.

"No need asking you if you like this sort of thing," he said. "I would like to know how you keep it up. It can't be any of it get anywhere. What's the attraction?"

"You can't get a rise out of me tonight," said Rose. "Not after what I've been through today. Madame Greville's been talking to me. She thinks American women are dreadful dulls—or she would if she knew the word—thinks we don't know our own game. Do you agree with her?"

"I'll tell you that," he said, "after you answer my question. What's the attraction?"

"Don't you think it would be a mistake," said Rose, "for me to try to

CHAPTER VIII.

Rodney Smiled.

The next day, Rose took two steps toward making herself her husband's intellectual companion.

From a university catalog she picked out the names of half a dozen elementary textbooks on law, and then went to a bookstore and bought them. She had taken her determination during the endless waking hours of the night: she was going to study law—study it with all her might!

The other step was to go and hear Rodney's argument in court that day. She was successful in slipping into the rear of the courtroom on the eighth floor of the Federal building, without attracting her husband's attention; and for two hours and a half she listened, with mingled feelings, to his argument. There was no use pretending that she could follow her husband's reasoning. Listening to it had something the same effect upon her as watching some enormous, complicated, smooth-running mass of machinery. She was conscious of the power of it, though ignorant of what made it go, and of what it was accomplishing.

The three stolid figures behind the high mahogany bench seemed to be following it attentively, though they listened to it indifferently, by including it in their conversations. And, presently, he just stopped talking and began stacking up his notes.

"I wish you'd tell me something," she said. "I expect you know better than anyone else I could ask. Why is it that husbands and wives can't talk to each other? I imagine what this table would be if the husbands and wives sat side by side!"

"The cigarettes came around just then, and he lighted one rather deliberately, at one of the candles, before he answered.

"I am under the impression," he said, "that husbands and wives can talk exactly as well as any other two people. Exactly as well, and no better. The necessary conditions for real conversation are a real interest in the knowledge of a common subject; ability on the part of both to confer these terms, their own and the other's; and a willingness toward that subject. Well, if a husband and wife can meet those terms, they can talk. But the Joker is, as our legislative friend would say, 'the dodged device'—the table toward a young millionaire of altruistic principles, who had got elected to the state assembly—'the Joker is that a man and a woman who aren't married, and who are moderately attracted to each other, can talk, or seem to talk, without meeting those conditions.'"

"Seem to talk?" she questioned.

"Seem to exchange ideas mutually. They think they do, but they don't. It's pure illusion, that's the answer."

"I'm not clever, really," said Rose, "and I don't know much, and I simply don't understand. Will you explain it, in short words?" she smiled—"since we're married, you know?"

He smiled, and said, "All right."

He said, "Since we're not married, I will. We'll take a hypothetical case. We'll take Darby and Joan. They're center each other somewhere, and something about them that men have written volumes about and never explained yet, sets up. They arrest each other's attention—get to thinking about each other, are strongly drawn together."

"It's not quite the oldest and most primitive thing in the world, but nearly. Only, Darby and Joan aren't primitive people. Much of them is carrying a perfectly enormous superstructure of ideas and inhibitions, emotional refinements, and capacities, and they don't recognize that they don't."

"Absence of common knowledge and common interests only makes Darby and Joan fall victims to the very dangerous illusion that they're intellectual companions. They think they're having wonderful talks, when all they are doing is making love."

"And poor Joan," said Rose, after a palpable silence, but evenly enough, "who has thought all along that she was attracting a man by her intelligence and her understanding, and all that, wakes up to find that she's been married for her long eyelashes, and her nice voice—and her pretty ankles. That's a little hard on her, don't you think, if she's been taking herself seriously?"

"Nine times in ten," he said, "she's fooling herself. She's taken her own ankles much more seriously than she has her mind. She's capable of real sacrifices for them. Intelligence she regards as a gift. She thinks witty conversation, or bright letters to a friend, are real exercises of her mind—real work. But work isn't done like that. Work's overcoming something that resists; and there's strain in it, and pain and discouragement."

In her cheeks the red flared up brighter. She smiled again—not her own smile—only, at any rate, that was new to her. "You don't believe an intellectual problem, then," she quoted, "by having your hand held, or your eyes kissed?"

Whereupon he shot a look at her and observed that evidently he wasn't as much of a pioneer as he thought.

She did not rise to this bait, however. "All right," she said, "admitting that her ankles are serious and her mind isn't, what is Joan going to do about it?"

"It's easier to say what she's not to do," he decided, after hesitating a moment. "Her fatal mistake will be to despise her ankles without disciplining her mind. If she will take either one of them seriously, or both for that matter—it's possible—she'll do very well."

He could, no doubt, have continued upon the theme indefinitely, but the table turned the other way just then and Rose took up an alleged conversation with the man at her right which lasted until they left the table, and included such topics as indoor golf, woman's suffrage, the new dances, Bernard Shaw, Campanini, and the political parties; with a perfectly appropriate and final comment upon each.

Rose didn't care. She was having a wonderful time—a new kind of wonderful time. No longer gazing, bewildered like little Cinderella, at a pagant some fairy godmother's whim had admitted her to, but consciously gazed upon what was the show, tonight, and she knew it. Her low, finely modulated voice, so rich in humor, so varied in color, had tonight an edge upon it that carried it beyond those she was immediately speaking to, and drew looks that found it hard to get away again. For the first time in her life, with full self-consciousness, she was producing effects, thrilling with the exercise of a power as obedient to her will as electricity to the manipulator of a switchboard.

She was like a person driving an airplane, able to move in all three dimensions. Pretty soon, of course,

METHODS OF DRAFT

HOW THE GREAT ARMY WILL BE RAISED BY SELECTIVE CONSCRIPTION.

QUICK CENSUS TO BE TAKEN

Good Physical Condition and Lack of Dependent Relatives the Prime Requirements—First Half Million Will Constitute Finest of Armies.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—The new army law is one of selective conscription. Just what does it mean? Thousands upon thousands of letters have been received by war department officials and by members of congress asking in effect that question.

It is to the credit of young America that the vast majority of the letters of inquiry have shown their inspiration to a desire to serve. There have been very few letters of inquiry showing any desire on the part of the writers to escape service if possible.

The United States government not only will take a quick census of the men subject to the provisions of the legislation, but one of the men who are likely to be ordered to the colors when it is necessary to raise another army. The young men will go first and then it may be that older men will be called upon, but the estimates are that two armies of 500,000 men can be raised without extending the age limits and without depleting the ranks of those whose services in agriculture or in the factories are absolutely essential, not only to the well-being of the state in the field but to that of the people at home.

The Chief Requisites.

The prime thing necessary for service is good physical condition. It must not be supposed from this that young men who temporarily are a little run down can expect to be released from service. There is nothing so up-building as open air exercise with good food and regular hours.

After the physical condition of the men has been determined and perhaps even before, inquiry will disclose whether or not they have persons dependent upon them for support. It is not the desire of the government to send men into the army if relatives are to become dependent upon the government for their livelihood because of the removal of their breadwinners.

A good deal has been said about a "conscript army." The new army will be conscripted, but the thing of conscription, if there be any such, will be removed. Nearly every French soldier at the front today is a conscript. There are a few Frenchmen who, way beyond the age limit, succeeded in including the authorities to accept their services because they could show that despite their age they were as physically capable as some of the much younger ones in the ranks.

There is another thing which will, in a large measure, do away with "conscript" criticism. The government wants for its first army men who have the volunteer spirit. It will not be strictly legal perhaps for discrimination to be made between the willing and the unwilling. It is not to be taken for granted, however, that the unwilling except in some pronounced cases, and in the cases of the arrant cowards.

The men with the real volunteer spirit, the heart desire to serve their country, army men think will make the thing so manifest that the shining spirit will compel attention to them, and the recruiting officers, or conscription officers, if you wish so to call them, being human and willing to go against the point of least resistance, unquestionably will give ardent youth the first chance.

It is known that army officers believe the first 500,000 Americans to be called to the colors will constitute the finest army physically and mentally ever called to the country's standards. The United States has a continental population of nearly 100,000,000 people. To get from this huge number 500,000 stalwart youngsters is a comparatively easy task. It is thought that in the ranks of the first 500,000 men will be probably 100,000 men who have seen some kind of military training. It is also thought that among them will be thousands upon thousands who have had physical training in outdoor and indoor athletics.

Training in New Methods.

In congress the opposition to the raising of an army on the universal liability to service plan gave no heed to anything except the main point in contention. Army officers do not say it out loud, but it is known they hold that the opponents of selective conscription cannot see beyond the rear line of trenches in the homeland preparation camp.

Lieutenant General Bridges of the British forces has said plainly that the best of England's youth, the men who have made good officers, volunteered in the cause of the war and bore the brunt of the fighting following the battle of the Marne, and suffered terrible casualties. The result was that the officer-making material was sadly depleted and when it came to raising other armies the men were lacking for instruction and for leading purposes.

American army authorities from the very beginning have laid stress upon the necessity of training officers for the force to be raised. The country read about the Officers' Reserve corps.

Why Not?

Thomas, aged four, was having the mysteries of the thunder storm explained to him. His mother explained that the lightning was electricity in the air. She said it was the thunder was caused by the bumping together of two clouds. Thomas perked up at the query, recalling that the back fence kept him from communication with the driveway beyond. "But, mother, why don't God build a fence between the two clouds, so they can't bump together?"

Passed By.

Asked—Well, George, are you meeting with success now that you are a lawyer?

George—Yes, I seem to meet with it every place I go, but it is the other fellow who is on friendly terms with it.

The Bright Side.

"This house seems to be damp," said the prospective tenant.

"It is," admitted the real estate agent. "But just think how slowly it would burn if it should catch fire!"

Cooking With Acetylene.

Motorists on tours, whose cars are filled with an acetylene gas tank for lighting, may now enjoy a well-cooked meal, while camping, without having to carry an alcohol stove or make a wood fire. They simply take the new "hot plate" supplied by the same company that furnishes the gas tank, and—present! a first-class gas stove is ready. As acetylene gas gives an intensely hot flame, the holes from which the gas issues are very small and an hour's cooking requires only three and one-half feet of gas, at an average cost of about ten cents an hour.

Aftermath.

"Pa, what comes after Easter?" asked Tommy Dubvalto.

"A flock of bills, son," answered Mr. Dubvalto, with a glance at Mrs. Dubvalto, who sniffed but said nothing.

H. S. REYNOLDS SPOILS H. S. REYNOLDS' TRIP

New York Lawyer Concludes World is Mighty Small Place After All.

New York.—Henry Suydam Reynolds, lawyer of this town, has concluded this world is a mighty small place after all. A few days ago he had never heard of H. S. Reynolds of Toledo, O., but now the fact has been brought forcibly to his attention.

At the Waldorf-Astoria Henry Suydam Reynolds satisfied himself that H. S. Reynolds of Toledo, is a responsible citizen, and then he understood himself of a modern tale of the Bahamas to Cuba and then from Florida north to New York and westward to Toledo.

It seems that Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Reynolds started from Toledo about the time that Mr. and Mrs. Henry Suydam Reynolds of New York, did, and both went to about the same places, including Nassau, Havana, Miami and Palm Beach. Mr. Henry Suydam Reynolds first decided that maybe he was someone else when he received an important letter from some brokers he'd never heard of, evidently answering a letter of his regarding some shares in the American Sugar company. Now, it happens Mr. Henry Suydam Reynolds owns shares to the exact number referred to, but he'd never written anybody about them.

Much wroth and puzzled, he was bewildered further at Nassau when an automobile concern wrote to him about overhauling his automobile—the same make and style as the vehicle he owns. He'd not ordered any overhauling, and he wrote quickly and said so. Then he and Mrs. Reynolds went to Palm Beach, and the morning after their arrival he read with some astonishment and a little panic that he and his wife had just returned to Palm Beach after a few weeks' absence. Since he hadn't been there before in a year he made inquiry and asked also for his mail. The clerk said his mail had been sent to him at the Waldorf-Astoria, as requested.

That was the final straw. Mr. Reynolds wired the Waldorf-Astoria asking whether Mr. H. S. Reynolds was there, and received a reply that he wasn't. He had just left the hotel for Toledo, the reply stated. That about ruined Mr. Henry Suydam Reynolds' peace of mind. He came straight on to New York and found out that while he was perturbed he had nothing on Mr. H. S. Reynolds of Toledo.

BELIEVED DEAD FOUR YEARS

Friend Now Says He Saw Marsee Recently—Mother by Aged Mother.

Grass Valley, Cal.—Four years ago word came to the relatives of Peter Marsee that the young man had been killed by falling from a tree never he had been reported on the Mexican border. The aged mother has thought her son dead and all the rest of the family and friends held the same opinion until recently a letter was received from a friend of Albert Marsee, stating that he had seen "Pete" at El Paso, where he was acting in connection with the military authorities.

TOWN COMPLAINS POLICE WEAR "PICKELHAUBEN"

Waycross.—Over two hundred residents of Waycross have petitioned Mayor Benton and council to order the police to wear helmets to drive up to the bank in an automobile and break into the building. "I shot so fast they must have thought a posse was after them," she said. The robbers secured nothing.

Moth Balls for Sparrows.

If the sparrows build in the eaves of your house or underneath the window panes, try making a few cheese-cloth bags and filling them with moth balls. When hung near the places where the sparrows are nesting, they will avoid the vicinity, as if it were the plague.

Perhaps.

The notorious "buck law" has been knocked out by the legislature and the indications are that hereafter hunters will be allowed to kill one deer, regardless of sex. There is no question but what the change in the law will please the hunters more than the old law, notwithstanding the fact that those who were in a position to know stated that the buck law was a good thing and did wonders in protecting the deer.

Last week the whole country was aghast, and reports from the northern part of the state are to the effect that a great many logs were burned in places where they had been hauled out to the railroad and were waiting for shipment. However, the intention of the officers is to eventually erect a $750,000 plant, and they have accordingly purchased a 33-acre site for its location. In addition to the condensing plant the plans call for an auxiliary factory for the manufacturing of tin cans and wooden and fibre boxes, of which the many plants in the state use an immense number. About 100 men will be employed to start with.

Look for the Cars with Red Gas Tanks —They're Helping to Make History

The Maxwell international gasoline economy demonstration takes place all over the United States and Canada on Wednesday, May 23—Thousands of Maxwells will participate—Two of them here—You'll know them by the red gasoline cans attached to the windshield—Watch for them.

A Maxwell will travel further on a gallon of gasoline than any other car made.

You've heard that before—but you're "from Missouri." Now we're going to show you—by demonstration runs on one gallon of gasoline—right here at home—and all over the North American Continent—from the Rio Grande to the Arctic wastes of Northern Canada and from ocean to ocean—in more than 2,000 cities and towns.

We're going to put it beyond the power of man, woman or child to question the Maxwell's rank as the world champion motor car in the field of economy.

—just as the Maxwell is now the undisputed world endurance champion.

—we simply want to show you the average mileage of Maxwells in daily service.

We Want You to See the Thing Done

That's why the one-gallon gasoline tank is painted red—and put in plain sight, outside the car.

We want you to know the drivers—and the official observers, all responsible members of this community.

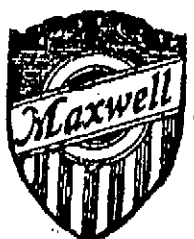

Names of the drivers and observers—the route to be taken by the cars—and all other details of the run—will be made public as soon as definitely decided upon. Watch for that.

We Want You All There

We urge you to come along in your own car as a witness to the actual performance.

—it's all going to be done right out in the open—here, and in every one of the more than 2,000 cities and towns taking part in the demonstration.

Come and see history made.

Judge Your Car by What You Cannot See

Make a list of requirements such as beauty, comfort, convenience, horsepower and the like.

Overland has won the verdict of over 400,000 owners after a comparison of such items.

If this is not enough to convince you, then judge your Overland by what you cannot see.

You cannot see the accuracy, the minute care, nor the patient perfecting that are practiced in Willys-Overland-manufacturing methods.

But you may know that these things are definite Willys-Overland accomplishments—else it would never have been possible for us to market those 400,000 cars.

You cannot see the quality in the materials—the scientific reasons for designs, nor the proven superiority of every part and principle.

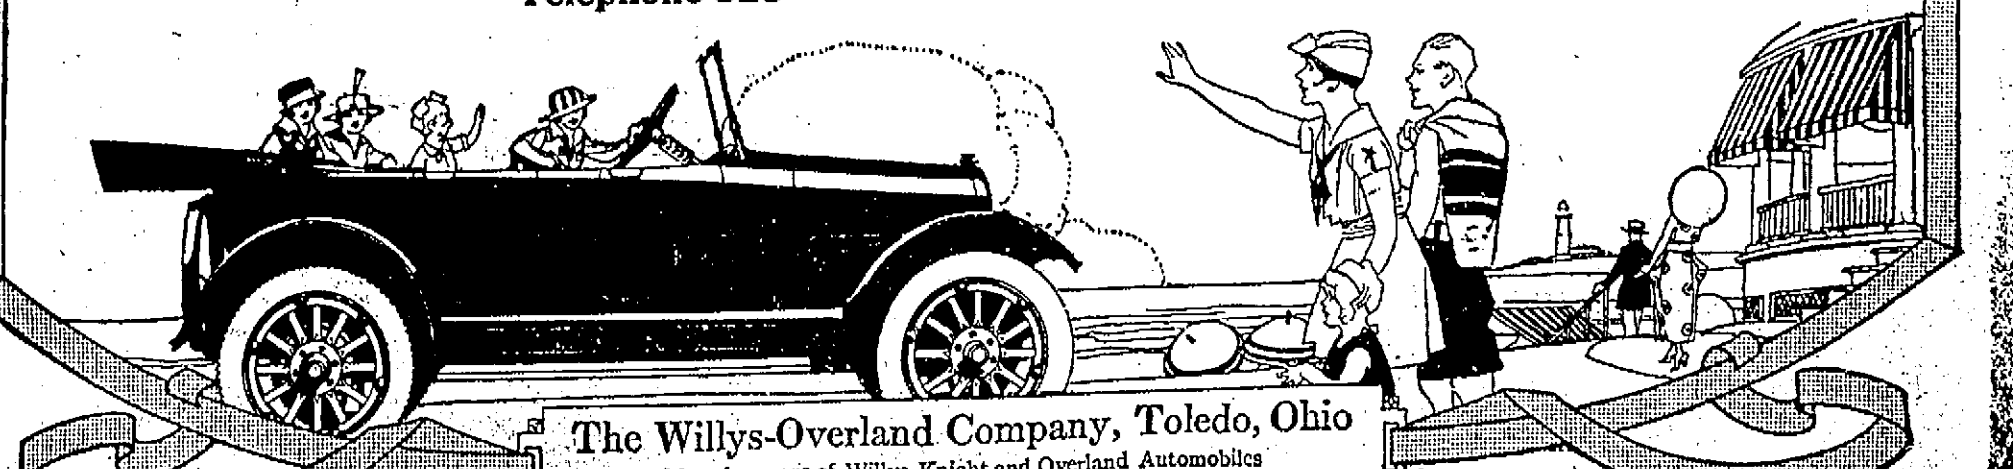

These things, and the millions in economies effected by Willys-Overland's vast production, are vital factors in your car although not visible to the layman's eye. But they are visible to the layman's reason—they are seen in continued consistent performance—and they are shown convincingly in the price that gives you a better car for less money. The Big Four—the car that made Overland—exemplifies this excess value. The experience accumulated in the building of over 300,000 similar four-cylinder Overlands has contributed directly to the development and perfecting of this model.

Test its superior mechanical excellence and remarkable easy riding qualities—come in and judge for yourself its incomparable beauty of design.

WOULD CLOSE SALOONS DURING THE WAR

Madison, May 19.—That Senator George Staudenmayer intends to press a bill to close all saloons in the state on June 30, 1917, if the Evjue referendum measure is not passed is indicated by his activities and his statement. He says he has and he finds much support for the bill in the senate as well as in the house. He believes that many of the administration men, who voted against the Evjue referendum bill, will vote for his bill, basing his contention on that paragraph of the governor's message which declares: "It seems to me that if there is a time when we need better regulation of the saloons, it is now and during the period of the war. I will approve any practical measure that you will adopt now that will curtail the use of alcohol."

Senator Staudenmayer says that by closing all of the saloons of the state, thousands of bushels of barley will be turned into food supplies. A bill of a similar scope was introduced in the assembly early in the session by Assemblyman Vaughn of Crawford county. His measure provided that no license shall be granted to saloons in towns after June 30, 1917. Senator J. Henry Bennett of Vilroqua, is one of the men in the upper house who is in the passage per house who bill during the war, if of no license shall be granted to saloons in towns after June 30, 1917. That some measure of this sort will be attempted now seems probable.

Almond Press: Mrs. Archilles, mother of Mrs. C. G. Hamilton, was struck by the beam of the engine at about 8 o'clock Saturday evening. Mrs. Archilles had been to the Harry Plank home after milk and on her way home she started down the right way when she saw the oncoming train and stepped out to the side of the track to allow it to pass but says that light seemed to blind her so that she could not see exactly where she was going and as a consequence she failed to get out quite far enough. She was knocked down and her right side and arm badly bruised but no bones were broken. The engineer stopped his train and helped her up and offered to assist her in getting home. However, she did not seem to feel that she was hurt very badly and so continued her journey alone, but by the time she had reached the house she was very weak and was obliged to go and lie down. A doctor was summoned and an examination proved that her injuries were more serious than she had at first thought. Altho physicians express hope that she may recover, she is still confined to her bed and is suffering from other complications which have resulted from her injuries.

Last week the whole country was afole, and reports from the northern part of the state are to the effect that a great many logs were burned in places where they had been hauled out to the railroad and were waiting for shipment. The citizens of Waupun are rejoicing over a recent decision of officers of the Libby, McNeil & Libby company, largest packers of milk, meats and canned foods in the United States, to locate a milk condenser in their city. The plant will cost some $50,000 to start with, but the company will spend over $150,000 upon it within the next three years. However, the intention of the officers is to eventually erect a $750,000 plant, and they have accordingly purchased a 33-acre site for its location. In addition to the condensing plant the plans call for an auxiliary factory for the manufacturing of tin cans and wooden and fibre boxes, of which the many plants in the state use an immense number. About 100 men will be employed to start with.

Look for the Cars with Red Gas Tanks —They're Helping to Make History

The Maxwell international gasoline economy demonstration takes place all over the United States and Canada on Wednesday, May 23—Thousands of Maxwells will participate—Two of them here—You'll know them by the red gasoline cans attached to the windshield—Watch for them.

A Maxwell will travel further on a gallon of gasoline than any other car made.

You've heard that before

—but you're "from Missouri."

Now we're going to show you

—by demonstration runs on one gallon of gasoline

—right here at home

—and all over the North American Continent

—from the Rio Grande to the Arctic wastes of Northern Canada and from ocean to ocean

—in more than 2,000 cities and towns.

We're going to put it beyond the power of man, woman or child to question the Maxwell's rank as the world champion motor car in the field of economy,

—just as the Maxwell is now the undisputed world endurance champion.

—we simply want to show you the average mileage of Maxwells in daily service.

We Want You to See the Thing Done

That's why the one-gallon gasoline tank is painted red —and put in plain sight, outside the car.

We want you to know the drivers

—and the official observers, all responsible members of this community.

Names of the drivers and observers

—the route to be taken by the cars

—and all other details of the run

—will be made public as soon as definitely decided upon.

Watch for that.

We Want You All There

We urge you to come along in your own car as a witness to the actual performance,

—it's all going to be done right out in the open!

—here, and in every one of the more than 2,000 cities and towns taking part in the demonstration.

Come and see history made.

Make a list of requirements such as beauty, comfort, convenience, horsepower and the like. Overland has won the verdict of over 400,000 owners after a comparison of such items. If this is not enough to convince you, then judge your Overland by what you cannot see. You cannot see the accuracy, the minute care, nor the patient perfecting that are practiced in Willis-Overland manufacturing methods. But you may know that these things are definite Willis-Overland accomplishments—else it would never have been possible for us to market those 400,000 cars. You cannot see the quality in the materials—the scientific reasons for designs, nor the proven superiority of every part and principle.

These things, and the millions in economies effected by Willis-Overland's vast production, are vital factors in your car although not visible to the layman's eye. But they are visible to the layman's reason—they are seen in continued consistent performance—and they are shown convincingly in the price that gives you a better car for less money. The Big Four—the car that made Overland—exemplifies this excess value. The experience accumulated in the building of over 300,000 similar four-cylinder Overlands has contributed directly to the development and perfecting of this model. Test its superior mechanical excellence and remarkable easy riding qualities—come in and judge for yourself its incomparable beauty of design.

ANOTHER OF JOHNSON'S GREAT EXPLOITS

Couldn't Blame Him.

There is a Cleveland parson who boy who has been trying to get a good mark in geography, inasmuch as the teacher at the John Eaton school has been giving him only "fair" in that particular branch of his scholastic work. So the lad has been going over and over the book, learning the lessons by heart. In this particular text book the author seems to have had the word "accessible" on the brain, for in every lesson something is found to be accessible either to the senses or the imagination. The boys or the mines seem to belong to something or other. The last lesson the "forests are accessible." The boy's father, also going through the lessons, asked his son if he knew what it meant to say that forests were accessible, and the boy didn't know. Instantly, He came back strong. "Why, certainly," said the father, "Anything can be easily cut up by axes in accordance with Washington State."

WOULD CLOSE SALOONS DURING THE WAR

Madison, May 19.—That Senator George Staudenmayer intends to press a bill to close all saloons in the state on June 30, 1917, if the Elysee referendum measure is not passed is indicated by his activities and his statement. He says he has conferred with a number of the senators and he finds much support for the bill in the senate as well as in the house. He believes that many of the administration men, who voted against the Elysee referendum bill, will vote for this bill, basing their contention on that paragraph of the governor's message which declares:

"It seems to me that if there is a time when we need better regulation it is now and during the period of the war I will approve any practical measure that you will adopt now that will curtail the use of alcohol."

Senator Staudenmayer says that by closing all the saloons of the state thousands of bushels of barley will be turned into food supplies.

A bill of a similar scope was introduced in the assembly early in the session by Assemblyman Vaughn of Crawford county. His measure provided that no license shall be granted to saloons in towns after June 30, 1917. Senator J. Henry Bennett of Viroqua, is one of the men in the upper house who is trying the passage of a license bill during the war, if the Elysee referendum bill is not approved. That some measure of this sort will be attempted now seems probable.

Madison, May 19.—That Senator George Staudenmayer intends to press a bill to close all saloons in the state on June 30, 1917, if the Evjue referendum measure is not passed is indicated by his activities and his statement. He says he has conferred with a number of the senators and he finds much support for the bill in the senate as well as in the house. He believes that many of the administration men, who voted against the Evjue referendum bill, will vote for his bill, basing his contention on that paragraph of the governor's message which declares: "It seems to me that if there is a time when we need better regulation than we have during the period of the war, I will approve any practical measure that you will adopt now that will curtail the use of alcohol."

Senator Staudenmayer says that by closing all of the saloons of the state, thousands of bushels of barley will be turned into food supplies. A bill of a similar scope was introduced in the assembly early in the session by Assemblyman Vaughn of Crawford county. His measure provided that no license shall be granted to saloons in towns after June 30, 1917. Senator J. Henry Bennett of Viroqua, is one of the men in the upper house who is urging the passage of a no license bill during the war, if of a no license referendum bill is not approved. That some measure of this sort will be adopted now seems probable.

Almond Press: Mrs. Archibald, mother of Mrs. C. G. Hamilton, was struck by the brake beam of the engine on the west-bound time freight at about 8 o'clock Saturday evening. Mrs. Archibald had started to the store to buy milk and on her way home she stepped down the right of way. She saw the oncoming train and stepped out to the side of the track to allow it to pass, but says she could not see exactly where she was going and as a consequence she failed to get out quite far enough. She was knocked down and her right side was badly bruised but no bones were broken. The engineer stopped his train and helped her up and offered to assist her in getting home. However she did not seem to feel that she was hurt very badly and so continued to her journey alone, but by the time she had reached the house she was very weak and was obliged to go and lie down. A doctor was summoned and an examination proved that her injuries were more serious than she had at first thought. Although physicians express hope that she may soon recover, she is still confined to her bed and is suffering from other complications which have resulted from her injuries.
